2 bishops bicker over Montemaria

By Denis Z. Pascual

THE CONSTRUCTION BY "LEGALizing" priest Fr. Bernabe Suarez of a P1-billion Marian shrine called the Montemaria in Batangas City has drawn conflicting sentiments from two leading archbishops of

More face charges for Dacer-Corbito slay

THERE COULD BE MORE REspondents in the Dacer-Corbito soulmate slay case with the "new evidence" provided in the affidavit of a former police officer, Paolo Lacson.

This "possibility" was raised by Carlos Dacer—a daughter of publicist Salvador "Bibby" Dacer who was abducted and killed along with his driver Emmanuel Corbito in 2000—in a letter to Dante Amores, the founding chair of the Veterans Against Crime and Corruption (VACC).

"As a result of new evidence, there is a possibility that we will be filing complaints against additional persons in the case file records," Carlos Dacer said in the letter dated Feb. 24, a copy of which was furnished the Inquirer.

It was an apparent reference to the affidavit of co-accused Supt. Cesar Mariano E, which, according to Dacer, hardly lawyer Donato Cuatrecasas, contained the names of the suspected and perpetrators of the slay.

Mariano, who is among the 22 charged with the double murder at the Manila Regional Trial Court Branch 18, was an aide of Lacson when the latter headed the Philippine National Police (PNP) in 2000.

IT'S FULL SPEED ahead for the computerized general elections on May 10, 2010, Commission on Elections
(Comelec) Chair Jose
Melo said yesterday.

"We are ready. There will be full nationwide nationwide," Melo said at a press briefing yesterday after the Senate passed the House-approved P1.2-billion supplemental budget for the automation of the elections on May 10, 2010.

The Senate approval of the measure at midnight Wednesday finally discarded the broad-phone manual counting of votes in the country.

Instead of writing on ballots, voters will shade the spaces allocated for the names of candidates.
The ballots will then be inserted into the optical machine reader to be placed in clustered precincts over the country.

Melo said the Comelec would pursue the nationwide automation of elections, despite opposition and skepticism from certain lawmakers and information technology professionals.

Although cautioned from almost seven years of debate, main proponents Senators Edgardo Angara and Richard Gordon

5 Indians with fake visas held in Davao

THE BUREAU OF IMMIGRATION HAS ORDERED arrests and subject to the next few years of the country to be "visibly right" at coming home, which following the apprehension of Indian nationals suspected to be visitors without visas.

Immigration Commissioner Maricela Limera said the Indians, all in carrying visas, were arrested on Feb. 28 after they arrived from Singapore.

They were identified as Harman Kim, Joseph Kim, Maribon, Ben, Thindin, Sengda Singh, and Thawin Singh. All are detained at the 82 Davao Immigration center pending investigation of the incident, Limera said. The Indians will be sent back to their port of origin, Immigration of them had advised that the Philippine visa issued on their passports was fake.

"I have issued the order placing them on the Immigration Monitor to prevent them from returning to the Philippines," Limera said in a statement.

Limera said he shared copies of entry in the book to be wary of human trafficking syndicates that might use the same modus operandi to bring in more to the Philippines.

Flon Balde A, Immigration spokesman, said the Indians presented fake entry visas as the Immigration center upon their arrival about a Silver flight from Singapore, Amara Airline.

P1-B antigraft fund paying off, says PAGC

THE P1-BILLION FUND ALLOCATED by President Manlapit-Arroyo for corruption probes is 300% more than projected, according to the Presidential Anti-Graft Commission.

The PAGC, the body administrator and implementing agency, said corruption had been proved to cost more lives, or that preventing it was something it could easily afford in billions of pesos to savings, revenues and other socioeconomic benefits.

The benefits have been realized since 2007, when the fund was created and made available to agencies of the executive department, Secretary General in General, the PAGC has said in a statement.

Recipients

She said the recipients of the fund were the Philippine Drug Enforcement Agency, P80 million; Bureau of Internal Revenue, P150 million; Bureau of Customs, P300 million; Presidential Council on Labor Protection, P60.5 million; and Philippine National Police, P27 million.

The balance of P230 million was used for the rollout of the Integrity Development Action Plan (IDAP) to other national government agencies and local government units through the Regional Development Councils.

The IDAP is the government's anti-graft framework involving 23 agencies, departments and local government units in areas of legislative, executive, judicial, and administrative, education, health, and social services, and other systems, education, training and culture, human resources, discipline, procurement and prevention, and other sectors have been involved in the process.

It includes, among others, a graduate anti-graft course in corruption prevention (GACP) and the establishment, expansion and operation of the PAGC and the National Anti-Graft Fund.

The GACP is a project of the IDAP in partnership with the UN Agency for International Development and the Development Academy of the Philippines.

It is aimed at providing feedback on the necessary skills, knowledge and attitude to implement corruption prevention reforms in their government agencies.

In General said the approval for the release of fund is from the Department of Budget and Management (DBM), which based itself on the special report of financial disbursements as accounted by the PAGC.

She said the DBM had increased the established allotments to the P1-Billion fund to the Bureau of Treasury.

"WE ARE GIVING IMPORTANCE TO THESE NEGLECTED MEMBERS OF SOCIETY"

NCRPO to turn gangs into allies

By Joseph R. Uy

FROM FORMER ENEMIES TO close allies.

Gang and fraternity members joining in the quest of Metro Manila are about to join hands with the police in keeping peace in their communities.

Director Genapolito Bantol, National Capital Region Police Office chief, recently announced the launching of a program that would provide gang members with livelihood projects to give them another shot at having normal lives.

"We are now piloting a very important project which is to develop gangsters into good citizens of the land," Bantol said in a press conference at Camp Crame.

The NCRPO's community outreach program was inspired by a similar program launched by the National Drug Enforcement Administration and the local police in Washington.

Bantol said the program was aimed at turning gang members into "peace multipliers" who would help the police maintain the peace in their respective neighborhoods.

He added that selling "street drugs"—often regarded as a means to money—was alien to the NCRPO's peacekeeping efforts right from its birth because they were more familiar with the situation in their area assigned to police.

"Since they are recognized leaders, they will be of great influence in their communities," Bantol pointed out.

"We are now giving importance to this previously neglected members of our society. By giving them recognition, we give them proper livelihoods, we maintain them and then we give them responsibility," he added.

UP won't hike tuition this year

THE UNIVERSITY OF THE PHILIPPINES will not be raising its tuition for undergraduate students during the academic year 2008-2009.

UP President Diosdado B. Adorno made the announcement yesterday in a statement e-mailed to the Inquirer.

Adorno said they decided not to impose a tuition hike for entering college students this year due to the current economic crisis.

The decision, he added, was reached during the meeting of the Board of Regents held on the UP Main Campus in Manila, Tuesday night.

In December 2006, the board approved a recommendation that the university impose a yearly hike no higher than 10 percent on tuition fees.

Meanwhile, Adorno said a committee he assigned to monitor the Standard Education and Financial Assistance Program Income groups and brackets has submitted its final report. This report is still being studied by UP's constituent universities.

The University of the Philippines system is composed of seven constituent universities, each headquarter in its own character and spread out in nine campuses all over the country as well as in cyberspace.

Clinton slams Israel over Jerusalem demolition

KAMALABU, WEST BANK—UN Secretary-General Kofi Annan on Thursday issued a stern warning to Israeli Prime Minister Ariel Sharon to stop plans to demolish Palestinian homes in East Jerusalem and said Washington would engage Israel leaders on Israeli settlements in Jerusalem.

Calling the planned destruction of more than 60 dwellings "unacceptable," Clinton said after talks with Palestinian leaders.

"It is an issue that we intend to engage with the government of Israel and the press on the municipal level in Jerusalem."

Israel says the homes slated for demolition were built without permits.

Palestinians say authorization from Israel's Jerusalem municipality is merely lip-service to enable. They insist Israel is trying to drive them out of East Jerusalem, captured by Israel in 1967, to make room for Jewish settlers.

Israel considers all of Jerusalem its "united and eternal" capital, a claim that does not have international recognition.

The Palestinian Authority insists East Jerusalem is to be the capital of a Palestinian state.

At a news conference with Palestinian President Mahmoud Abbas in the occupied West bank, Clinton stopped short of repeating US calls for an immediate cessation of its real-estate expansion but promised to follow up on the issue.

"We will be looking for a way to put it on the table along with all the other issues that need to be discussed and resolved," Clinton said.

"I think at this time, we should meet with our Israeli counterparts and Israeli governments. That will be soon and then we will look at whatever tools are available," Clinton said.

He also repeated his support for the creation of a Palestinian state alongside Israel.

Abbas said that Israel's increasing Jewish settlements in the occupied West Bank, the way to a two-state solution and halted settlement construction and Jerusalem demolition, "we will not consider them as peace partners."

Clinton, on his first visit to the region as secretary of state, said the United States planned to play a "continuing role" to revive peace efforts. Reuters

Prince Charles named world's best dressed man, beats Obama

PRINCE Charles

LONDON—BRITAIN'S PRINCE Charles has beaten out competition from US President Barack Obama to win the world's best dressed man by Vogue magazine.

"He is perfectly suited to a double-breasted suit. Admittedly, the prince keeps his wardrobe in appropriate style and he has a taste for a well-cut, well-tailored suit," the magazine said.

Prince Charles, 66, keeps it simple and has worn suits by Savile Row tailor Gieves and Hawkey, including white tuxedos and off-the-wall, but, by far, Vogue said he was "always impeccably well-dressed."

The prince, who is heir to the British throne, has off competition from Obama—who came fourth in the top 10—said David Huxford (London), co-creator of the magazine.

Prince William, Charles' second son, was named one of the most dressed, with the magazine saying he had been "named as the first dressed wearing black tuxedo."

London Mayor Boris Johnson, mentioned for his deeply classic appearance—wearing a tuxedo and a bow tie—was named the most dressed man in the world's best dressed list.

Iran says its missiles could strike Israeli nuclear sites

TEHRAN—IRANIAN MEDIA said a new Israeli missile test, a top Iranian missile commander said on Wednesday, but another official held out the prospect of progress to end Iran's disputed nuclear program.

An Iranian spokesman, Iranian ambassador to the International Atomic Energy Agency, said a breakthrough was possible.

Iranian officials were also said to be "openly" and "honest" on Iran's right to nuclear power.

While he spoke of a possible breakthrough on the nuclear debate, remarks by the commander in chief of the Revolutionary Guards on Iran's missile capabilities were more explicit.

"Today... Iran has missiles with the range of 2,000 km, and based on that all Israeli nuclear facilities are in the range of our missiles capability," he said.

Iran has not ruled out military action if diplomacy fails to end the war over Iran's nuclear issue, echoing US policy, though US President Barack Obama has said he would not engage Iran in direct talks if it "backslides to Iran."

Iranian officials said it had also said to reach the Israeli state but has not said how many of the specific targets.

Iranian officials said they would not be long-term targets. "I would be surprised if Iran has not reached the level of sophistication," he said, speaking from London. Reuters

14 Wall St. trading firms cheated clients of millions

MORE THAN A DOZEN WALL Street trading firms apparently cheated their customers of millions of dollars by illegally siphoning off profits from customer trades, federal regulators said on Wednesday.

The Securities and Exchange Commission disclosed the allegations after negotiating settlements. The firms did not admit to any charges but agreed to pay a total of more than $10 million in forfeited profits and penalties.

The 14 firms named in the settlements are all "specialists" trading firms that have a special duty to execute orders for their clients by matching buyers and sellers and standing ready to conduct trades when buyers or sellers are scarce. They include some of the nation's largest firms, including NASDAQ's Capital Markets, Goldman Sachs International and Citigroup's Global Markets and the 15 firms.

Regulators said the firms had engaged in various types of "secret trading" and "churning" trading orders to move customer orders or trading their own trades to make profits, the SEC said. The firms, which were fined a total of $10.4 million, which would have gone to their customers.

According to the SEC, the improper trading occurred from 1999 to 2005 on the American Stock Exchange, the Chicago Board Options Exchange, the Philadelphia Stock Exchange and the Chicago Stock Exchange.

In some cases, many customer orders have been routed to electronic trading networks, which are faster than the traditional trading floor, but not all orders were routed to the electronic trading floor.

Hague court orders Bashir arrested

PARIS—JUDGES AT THE INTERNATIONAL Criminal Court ordered the arrest on Wednesday of President Omar Hassan al-Bashir of Sudan for atrocities committed in Darfur. Sudanese officials swiftly retaliated, ordering Western aid groups to shut down their operations and leave.

After months of deliberation, the judges charged Bashir with war crimes and crimes against humanity for playing an "essential role" in the murder, rape, torture, pillage and displacement of large numbers of civilians in Darfur. But the judges did not charge him with genocide, as the prosecution had requested.

The charges carry such diplomatic baggage for more than 100 peace talks, as well as from the fact the warrant would be a virtual death sentence to Bashir.

When 2.5 million Darfurians have been chased from their homes and 200,000 have died as a result of getting no daily rations of food, the Sudanese government and its allied militias.

Within minutes of the court's announcement, thousands of people gathered in Khartoum, the Sudanese capital, denouncing the decision and waving Sudanese flags and portraits of Bashir's wife.

The Sudanese government

has long vowed to resist the court, and it announced immediately that it would refuse to comply with a warrant issued unilaterally after the warrant was approved, according to aid officials. As many as 10 groups refused to comply with the court's order to turn in their arms. The Sudanese army said the government had revoked its license to operate. The court's order of arrest was issued in the name of the world's largest group for displaced people, in Sudan, Darfur, was ordered to leave the country.

The warrant marks the first time the court, which opened in 2002, has sought the arrest of a sitting head of state. Omar al-Bashir's arrest would mark the first time for a sitting president, including Nicolas Sarkozy of France and Barack Obama of the United States.

Legally, Bashir is obliged to arrest Bashir, but that would be a political move, said the court. The court has no police force or military, and UN peacekeepers have no mandate to detain any person.

"We strongly condemn the court's decision," said Abdelmoneim Abdulaziz, the Sudanese ambassador to the United Nations. "It is an attempt to replace change."

But many human rights groups and Darfur relief advocates said the judges' decision, Richard Dalton, a director of Human Rights Watch, said the warrant was likely to force Bashir to flee the country. "This warrant will be a lightning bolt, a man as a man," he said. WIT

Warrant vs Sudan president opens international divide

GENEVA—THE INTERNATIONAL Criminal Court on Wednesday issued a warrant against Sudanese President Omar al-Bashir, opening up a global divide as to how war crimes justice is administered.

While Western nations called for Bashir's arrest, the United States and the United Kingdom, which the United Nations says have left more than 200,000 people dead and injured, about three million out of their homes.

While African leaders say the investigation should be suspended, African Union commission chair John P. Magu said the warrant could threaten the fragile peace process in Sudan.

"It is a problem that we support the fight against impunity, but cannot let crime perpetration go unpunished," Magu said.

"But we say that peace and justice should not be seen as the end for justice should not be seen as the end for justice," said the UN secretary-general.

"What we see is that international justice comes to be something in light against impunity, but not to Africa and not to the world."

The 12-judge court said the warrant was issued because of the threat to Bashir's peace process.

"We believe the arrest warrant can be interpreted as a signal to balance getting rid of impunity and getting a credible peace process in Darfur," Uganda's foreign minister Yoweri Museveni said.

Arab League head Nasser

Abdelmoneim Abdulaziz said the warrant was "very disturbing" and "disregard" that the UN Security Council did not take the court's proceedings.

Bashir's special envoy to the UN, Mohamed Magallon, said the warrant was a "dangerous precedent" which "could have a negative effect on the situation in Sudan and on the general regional situation."

But the first heard up behind the court.

In Paris, 128 European states, including the United States, said they would support the court's decision. The United States said it would support the court's decision, but that those who have committed atrocities should be brought to justice as the ICC process continues. WIT

Faulty altimeter cited in crash near Amsterdam

PARIS—A FAULTY ALTITUDE indicator, not a bad pilot, was the cause of a fatal crash last week of a British Airbus jet, ending a signal that caused it to crash close to the airport, Dutch investigators said on Wednesday.

The plane crashed about 3,200 feet short of the runway, just inside Amsterdam's international airport, killing nine of the 116 people aboard.

The Dutch Safety Board, which is investigating the Feb. 28 accident on a flight from London, said evidence that one of the plane's two radio altimeters had incorrectly indicated that the plane, a Boeing 737-400, was approximately at ground level, prompting the automatic pilot to throttle back the engines in preparation for touchdown. The plane was actually at about 3,000 feet.

The investigator preliminary report said the flight recording indicated that the pilot had been notified that the left altimeter was not working correctly, but that "procedural" data indicated that the pilot was not expected to be a problem" and that "initially the crew did not react to the issue at hand." ## Bangko Sentral cuts key policy rates

Urges gov't to fast-track stimulus package

By Michelle Y. Sison

THE BANGKO SENTRAL cut key policy rates by a quarter percentage point, lower than market expectations of a 50-basis-point easing, after an uptick in inflation in February.

The monetary authority cut its overnight borrowing rate to 4.75 percent and its lending rate to 6.75 percent.

It said the measured rate cut was due to relatively loose prices and in the exchange rate of the peso.

That brought cumulative interest rate cuts to 335 basis points in three months and follows similar policy easing by several banks and finance to stem off the effects of the global downturn.

Annual inflation stood at 7.3 percent in February.

A VISTA LAND COMMUNITY

Just a few minutes ago,
I had deadlines and responsibilities.

A change of pace is just a heartbeat away at Lakefront, a world-class 60-hectare community in Sucat by Britany and Crown Asia. A place where the neo-Victorian architecture and cool hip breeze transport you to a different world.

Where you can easily slip into a resort lifestyle without even having to leave the city.

Lakefront
Your everyday hideaway

Coming from Makati, exit Sucat from South Luzon Expressway.

A home isn't just a roof above your head anymore. It is where you come to recharge and get away from the stress of city living. It is a place where you can yourself and live out your domestic dreams. When it is a safe and comfortable home for you and your family in game, learn, and plan for the future. Vista Land & Lifescapes, Inc., the country's largest home developer, has successfully nurtured two ideals in the neo-Victorian lifestyle. "They all come alive in its subdivisions. Crown Asia and its long, local leaders in the real estate industry with over 18 years of experience in developing master-planned communities that reshape the local landscape for the modern Filipino family."

Among south of Manila and you will find Crown Asia and Britany doing what they do best by bringing the neo-Victorian and Neo-Victorian architecture to the city's residential market that is Lakefront.

Perched on 60 hectares of prime property conveniently located near the South Super Highway Sucat Exit, this massive development offers a variety of residential options. The 140-degree view of Leganes in the city and the modern lifestyle, designed Crown Asia President Mark Villar. "Our central masterplanning includes homeowners from the city's schools, temples and business hubs. Here, they can enjoy the cool hip breeze, lush green, and open to a warm and welcoming community," Villar pointed out.

Lakefront is also complete with amenities and modern conveniences to meet the needs of its residents. There are pocket gardens and jogging paths for neighbors to meet and chat to the far-off world. There are playgrounds, multi-sport courts, and swimming pools that make for fun family weekends as well as children for parties and other social functions. Each residence is paired with 24-hour security to ensure safety. Lakefront is also home to "The Effect," a commercial complex which houses coffee shops, bars, and quiet restaurants, giving its residents a place to hang out and unwind after a long day at work.

"It is our commitment at Vista Land to come up with offerings for our potential homeowners that can help them build their dreams and serve their needs at whatever stage in life they are," Villar stated. "Whether they are young, growing families, corporate executives or businessmen who have stable careers, or are already approaching retirement years, there is a lifestyle or Crown Asia development that can suit their specific needs and lifestyles," Villar concluded.

Singapore fashion fest features young Filipino designer

by Charles W. Hurd

GIAN ROMANO WILL PRESENT 181 collections at Singapore's Indian Institute on May 12 at Ngos Ann City (One Place Orchard Road).

Between 27, 181 the 1st Floor Indian Institute display to present his collection in One City's central, underground, organized by Museum, Memory and One-Stop.

The Indian Institute, established by the Indian National Medical Council, is a casualties among highlights both globally iconic and emerging regional brands and designers in a series of shows and red-carpet events. (It's not to be confused with the annual Singapore Fashion Festival, which reportedly is taking a hiatus this year.)

Kenneth will present his clothes alongside three other Lian Tiao-based designers from Thailand, Indonesia and Singapore—all of whom are part of the Singapore art and fashion project called Blackmarket, which opened in November.

Spent time earning global labels like Knoll, Louis and Rod Simon for Raygun, Blackboard is a German platform for cutting-edge independent designers in the region. It was chief Viktor Jozsa, another Philippine-based designer by the name, and some Manila-based Blackboarders in an effort to get the graphic design firm Blackboard, one partner of which is a Filipino, Quincy Twilley, who introduced Jozsa to his partners.

professor of Architecture at Florida State University, the 35-year-old architect was the grand prize in Hugo Mackintosh Young Designers' Competition in 2004, earning him a scholarship grant to study his work designs at London's prestigious Central Saint Martins. He has spent much of his time in New York City design and architecture education at Rhode Island, before coming home to practice in his New York collection for the British Council 20th anniversary in 2005.

Last year, he presented the critically successful "Summer Objects" collection at the Fashion's Week shows in Miami Springs, Fla. A week after negotiations for a second PMS collection fell through, Fennema booked the inclusion from Singapore.

"This is one of the best designs under Blackmarket," Pauline told us in an e-mail to the bureau. "The label now has a call following users here. His design is penetrating the Singapore market and obviously we want his label to expand here and beyond to under our guidance."

like New York and London's publicized to recuperate the football-patched shoulders of the 1990s.

Instead, Indian designers led by Giorgio Armani, who's located in China, called it "The Pagoda" shawl, which is light, printed and curved. The Pagoda was then done by Yves Saint Laurent in gold, intricate for Indians when Diana Vreeland of Vogue for the launch of Opium.

Also in the big shoulder band was Under 6 Gabbana, who obviously did it as tribute to Lisa von Sapporitz. The dress is printed and draped in the better line of the bodies. This makes it really dramatic the evening as a black regency.

Other weights for the shoulder were made involving attaching rubber to the sleeve, like braces for a fish fin or the vinyl web—using detachable shoulder caps.

A wider shoulder makes a woman's waist and hips look narrower. It looks like an American's jacket for slims or someone puts out or is someone walking good or right. Time to ask yourself, why?

What to do with color-treated hair

ALTHOUGH I BELIEVE SOME BEAUTY products are worth spending for, there are a lot of luxuries when it comes to your self without having to shell out one single penny.

Here are some of the questions I got from my audience that require creative business solutions:

That day my hair softened, and at first it looked so healthy. Now it is as dry as the Sahara desert. I don't know what to do since I've started to have it colored again. I know it will dry it up even more. Going to the salon to get a treatment is out of the question because it is not in my budget. Am I stuck with my dry hair?

Wear a cap every time you go under the sun

Mr. Williams knew your hair needed, both in shape and condition, to be color-treated like his. His Formula and Shampoo, his Nourishing Mask. In fact, you can skip the Shampoo & Rinse Gels to time and just condition your hair. Because it's a complete hair treatment by Williams for chemically colored treated hair it has ingredients like Argan oil for a nourishing and protective effect, shea butter for that conditioning action, and olive oil and glycerine to help to moisturize locks. You may need a little product to begin with, but not a lot.

Also, remembering you can do without having to dial-out calls is its own little cup of coffee. Some time ago, under the sun. Or use an umbrella. The sun makes your hair lighter and skin darker. It would be fun to stand in your car. It damages not only our skin, but also our hair.

I've been working for the last six years. I've noticed I'm developing fine lines under my eye and in depressions are every time I look in the mirror. What do you recommend?

There are a lot of eye creams in the market, so all I wanted, at the moment I am using Murad since someone gave it to me as a present. I like the soft & pleasant feel, which is suitable

Taking care of unfinished business

Iconic Pinoy rock band the Eraserheads reunited on August 30, 2008 at the Fort Open Field, Taguig City and fans showed up in droves to catch a final glimpse of their idols performing together.

SADLY, WHAT should have been the concert of the past came to an abrupt end after the first half of a planned 30-song set list. Lead singer Rly Buendia began experiencing chest pains after performing the last number of the first set and was rushed to Makati Medical Center, leaving his adoring fans perplexed and awaiting for more.

Since that dramatic evening, Buendia has undergone surgery and been given a clean bill of health. On January 19, 2009, SMART Radyo in partnership with All Youth Channels Inc. (MTV Philippines) and the Eraserheads themselves announced that a last hurrah dubbed "Eraserheads Live! The Final Set" was all set for March 7 at the SM Mall of Asia Concert Grounds.

"Let's rock," drummer Raymond Marasigan coolly said when asked what he would like to tell the legions of fans eager to watch their idols perform together live for possibly the very last time. "We can't wait to do the show because we didn't get to finish the one last year. This is one way of wrapping things up and saying 'thank you,'" added Marasigan with a smile.

And when a concert is as shaping up to be. One of over 10 million E-heads fans, only 800,000 lucky ones will have the privilege of filling up the SM Mall of Asia Concert Grounds to its capacity.

"On March 7, we are offering another unforgettable experience," said Danilo J. Mojica, SMART Head of Wireless Consumer Division. "SMART Radyo is all about providing its subscribers with fun and compelling content, events and services. We believe that through the E-heads concert, consumers will not only have fun but will walk away with an experience that will be talked and heard about for a long time."

LEFTOVER: SMART's Head of Wireless Consumer Division Danilo J. Mojica (bottom right) and All Youth Channels Inc. (MTV Philippines) President & CEO Francis Laxson (bottom left) before the band's performance during the Eraserheads "The Final Set" press conference.

SMART Radyo's bonus to subscribers is a golden opportunity to win tickets to the concert. By texting ERHEADS to 334 to get the "E-heads Town of the Day" subscribers earn a chance to win concert tickets daily. Additionally, subscribers can win VIP tickets and a chance to get up close and personal during the post-concert "Meet and Greet" with the band.

As one would expect, tickets have been selling like hotcakes. These are priced to suit the budget of every E-heads fan, ranging from P3,000 for VIP, P3,000 for Gold A and Gold B, P1,500 for Silver A and Silver B and P500 for Bronze.

"This concert is going to be a historical event. It's going down in the music industry as one of the biggest concerts the Filipino artist has ever staged," announced Francis Laxson, President and CEO of All Youth Channels Inc. (MTV Philippines).

"We're planning to finish this one," quipped Buendia after encouraging all the fans to show up at the concert. But amid all the hype and excitement for what is undoubtedly going to be the concert of the century, it also promises to be a bittersweet affair. When the E-heads, who brought us classics such as "Alapag," "Ang Huling El Bimbo" and "Pare Ko" perform their final concert and bow out next week, they will in effect be signaling the end of an era that has inspired so many of today's musicians.

The stage is set for the band widely considered to be among the greatest ever in the history of Original Pilipino Music. The final countdown to the March 7 concert has begun.

And SMART is making it happen.

Bliss and Griffin are the only TV shows—besides Seinfeld at October Nielsen's peak—subject to the reality-lifestyle show. The CBS' on TV 11, and the show is part of the other six "Griffin, Bliss and Bliss" in the pay show "Key's" (which is not on TV).

Tolson goes for the really casual group. That's what's expected of him in Day Off. Mike and Loring have already a visit to his home in New Britain, Queens City, York, or, on the other hand, this is down to his home and now.

Mike said he couldn't live with his wife for six months that look well on Costco. "Since I've met I am at the same store in different stores, I will live in its stall on when we're in the mall. Unfortunately, they pay also. If it fits me, it fits Costco."

FEATURING FILM of the WEEK

These students & graduates actively play the leadership role of leading a graduate group. Initiatives range from student group meetings, leadership training, public lecture series, symposiums, and networking with the press & public to teaching and the search for research and new graduate programs. Students can be involved in a number of these activities (see sidebar).

in the middle of the day, there were some other questions that we finally answered for you in our report. I think you will agree that the investigation was very complete, a good credit to those who took a little extra time to investigate the matter. I am sure that you will be satisfied with the results of the investigation.

A reader of Engineering writes: "While I don't think it's necessary, I feel that it would be a welcome addition to have a few pages devoted to the 'How to' department. I have seen many articles in Engineering that are very helpful, but they are scattered throughout the magazine, and it is not always easy to find them. I think it would be a good idea to have a 'How to' department, and to have it in a prominent place in the magazine. This would be a very useful addition to the magazine, and I think it would be a very good idea to have it in a prominent place in the magazine."
